Newcastle combines the convenience and choices of urban living with the comfort and community of a small town. Only in Newcastle can residents and visitors live, work, shop, and play with stunning views, commute easily to the best jobs in the Pacific Northwest, and return home to live in balance with nature.

In 1872, between 75-100 tons of coal was produced each day in Newcastle. Its legacy remains ever-present in local place names such as Coal Creek Parkway and China Creek Golf Course.
